

Beginning of the Year Checklist

How is your new year going? Check the items you have covered and star the ones that you would like to add to your school, this year. Some of these items may not be anything you will include in your school year, this year or ever, so cross those out. Use this checklist to make your own.

	You have a family a family mission statement.
	You have goals for the year—in general.
	You have specific goals for the year.
	You have character & Spiritual quality goals for the children.
	You are teaching the core subjects.
	You teach history, science, reading-literature, writing, mathematics (Alg. etc.)
	You include music and art.
	You include sports or time to play outdoors.
	You have a routine or a schedule (checklist for the student).
	You plan ahead.
	Is your homeschool experiential? Do you have crafts or other hands-on learning taking place?
	You work closely with the children that need one-to-one mom time.
	You assign daily chores.
	You assign weekly chores.
	You have a day (or at least a few hours) to catch up each week.
	You have field trips planned for the year that you will attend.
	You have time for mom. (Do not cross this out!)